FOOTBALL TEAM HONORED AT BANQUET

The Old Rochester Regional High School football team, the Bulldogs, was honored Saturday night at the annual Sports Banquet, held in the school cafeteria, sponsored by the Boosters Club. The Bulldog eleven went undefeated and untied for the first time in the brief history of the school, and were crowned champions in the Tri-County Conference League. They allowed only 16 points to be scored against them all season while racking up 157 points in offense.

Freshman football coach at Harvard University, was the guest speaker. He congratulated the team on their fine year and told them to play the game of life as they have played football this year. He spoke humorously of his early days at Harvard when he was the varsity football coach. Closing on a more serious note, he urged the boys to study hard and attend college, and by getting good marks, they could pick the college they wanted to go to.

He was introduced by Llewellyn Roberts, a member of the faculty, who served as Master of Ceremonies. Mr. Roberts announced that head coach, Frank Almeida, had been named the coach of the year by the Suburban All-Stars.

Coach Almeida introduced the entire football squad and spoke of each boy individually as he was introduced. Others speaking briefly were Marshall M. Sawyer, Jr., member of the school committee; Joseph C. Kunces, superintendent of schools; Donald N. Gavin, principal;

Almeida and assistant coach, Robert Gibeley, with watches from the team members. Mr. Dorr presented the two coaches with maroon blazers from the Boosters Club. The coaches were also presented tankards from the Insurance Company.

The invocation was by the Rev. John F. Sullivan, SS.CC., St. Anthony's Church, Mattapoisett. The Rev. Frederick Reynard, pastor of the Mattapoisett Congregational Church, gave the benediction.

A roast beef dinner was prepared by the members of the V.F.W. Post, Marion. Students from the Future Homemakers Club served as waitresses. Following the dinner, musical selections were given by Matt Riley, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Tibbetts of Marion.

The cafeteria was most attractively decorated with red and white streamers from which hung red and white balloons. White cloths with red stripes down the middle and red and white carnations decorated the tables. Goal posts with a bulldog in the center framed the head table.

The walls were decorated with pictures of the players, cleverly drawn by Herb Arral. Also on the walls were posted the scores of each game.

Named as co-captains for the 1966 year are Danny White and Domingo Pina.

A composite picture of all the players and the two coaches, drawn by Al Cabral, was presented to each person attending. Also on the picture were the names of the cheerleaders and the scores of the games.

A TRIBUTE TO MAGGIE

A tragic accident this week took one of Mattapoisett's best loved citizens, "Maggie", "Marge" or Marguerite Elizabeth" Sylvia, by which ever name you knew her. She was always where she was needed. It didn't matter what your name, creed, color or station in life was, if you needed a friend or a helping hand "Marge" was there. Most of the time even before you called. If there was any cause for the good of the town or schools Marge led the fight and she never cared or worried about who her adversaries were. If she felt she was on the side of right (which she usually was) she never gave up.

Marge worked for the Red Cross and headed it in Mattapoisett for many years. Fire, hurricane or a lost child or elderly person saw her on the scene almost as quickly as the authorities, and she was always the last one to leave, never for home, but to console or help where she could.

With all this, Marge never forgot or neglected her own family. She brought up five wonderful children who are all a credit to our town. She taxied them everywhere and saw to it that they took part in everything going for the good of children their age. Maggie leaves behind a heritage of love and affection for her family, but, for the town there is a void that will be a long time filling. Those of us that knew and loved her will never forget her and will miss her and pray for her. For the newcomers to town we feel bad that they never got to know her, but we hope they will listen to the stories and things about her and grow richer for having heard them. For Mattapoisett, Marion and Rochester, and Lake-

CHOIR MEMBERS FETE LEADER

Turn about is fair play so Mrs. William Warburton learned when 14 young people surprised her with a party at her Mattapoisett Road home in Rochester. The group, members of the Junior Choir of Rochester First Congregational Church, meet at her home every Friday after school for choir rehearsal. On a number of occasions, they have arrived for choir rehearsal to be unexpectedly feted with a party by Mrs. Warburton who is organist to the group.

The dining room table was set with an assortment of party goodies, secretly maneuvered there. Mrs. Warburton was presented with a milk glass flower vase and a key case. Also sharing honors was Mrs. Martin who received a brass trimmed waste container and a key case.

Choir members responsible for the surprise were June and Peggy Thompson, Katherine and Lucy Fearing, Sandra and Joan Braley, Louis and Brenda Ouellette, Marianne Ross, Kim Hartley, Carolyn Lawrence, Cynthia Cobb, Regina Cobb and Carl Snow. Also present were Mrs. Louis Ouellette and sons, Charles, Bruce and Brian.

The Christmas season will be a busy one for the youthful choir members with plans including a trip to the Mattapoisett Nursing Home to entertain patients with a program of Christmas carols. This Friday's rehearsal will be devoted to preparing special Christmas vocal selections for Sunday morning's Christmas service at 10:30 at the First Congregational Church. They are also practicing for their part in a Christmas program to be presented by the Sunday School at 4 P.M. Sunday at the church. The choir will also join the young people of the

YEARS AGO by C.M.

154 Years Ago -- 1811-12

The course Capt. Snow was sailing was the one used by all sailing craft headed for the north of Europe; he got his vessel out into the Gulf Stream 150 miles or so off the Georgia coast and then followed it to England. The advantage was that the Gulf Stream current pushed his vessel along three or four knots an hour, 24 hours a day regardless of weather conditions. The disadvantage was that the vessel was constantly struck by heavy squalls; and as he got into the North Atlantic in December, gale followed gale in quick succession making the sea "rugged" as he terms it, most of the time. I shall quote one complete entry to indicate what many of them are like.

(Note: F. - fore; M. - main; T. - top; T.G. - topgallant.)

Tues. 26th day of Nov. 1811. All these 24 hours fresh gails and heavy squalls with rain and hail. At 1 P.M. took two reefs in each T. sail. At 8 P.M. close reefed and F. and M T sails. At 9 P.M. took in M sail. At 11 took in the F. and Mizzen T. sail. At 4 A.M. heavy gails. Reefed the F. sail. Saw a brigg laying too on the starboard tack. At 10 A.M. sent down the Mizzen T.G. mast and rigging. Very heavy squalls and bad sea. Ship leaks 200 strokes per hour.

Nov. 28. A great sea from E by N.... The ship continues to leak.

Before he got through with this leak, it came within a hair's breadth of sending Capt. Snow, his crew, and the good ship Liberty to Davy Jones locker.

After only a week out of Sapello Island, Georgia, on his voyage northeast to Plymouth, England, Capt. James Snow had already fought with the continuous squalls and rugged sea of the Gulf Stream, had reefed down for one gale, had found his ship, the Liberty, to leak badly, so badly that steering became a problem. Now for the first time he met a problem of a different kind--being boarded by a British man-of-war.

BETTY KELLY, MNG. Closed Wed. Afternoon

In the log for November 29, 1811, we read (among the ever-present and lengthy records of reefing and letting out reefs): At 9 was boarded by His Majesty's Ship Tartareur from Halifax. Carried me on board at 10. Brought me back at 11.

For the two months' voyage the daily entries are long and monotonous. The crew reefed and shook out reefs so often it was a wonder the canvas or their fingers didn't wear through. If a gale struck they sent down the topgallant masts and rigging. When the gale subsided they hoisted them up again. When the weather was moderate, they couldn't set full sail for the ship then steered so poorly they would broach to. So we'll just hit the high spots of the voyage, for even these almost give us the feeling of being there.

Dec. ', 1811. All these 24 hours fresh breezes....At 8 A.M. broched a cask of water 107 gallons.

Dec. 3. Middle part fresh breeze and squally....Broched a bbl. beef and bbl. pork.

Dec. 5. At 6 P.M. squally with sharp lightning. (They had to take in all sail except for a couple of double-reefed topsails.)

Dec. 8.....heavy gails....Lay (to) under reef F. sail and F.T. mast, stay-sail and mizen stay-sail....Saw appearance of bank, green water, and many foul (fowl).

Dec. 9. These 24 hours begins with fine weather and good breeze....saw a plenty of gulf weed.

Dec. 10.....squalls. Saw several school of porpoises. Saw many gulls and plenty of gulf week. (He was sticking to the center of the Gulf Stream all the way.)

Dec. 15. (He reckoned the distance he had come as 1188 miles.)

Dec. 16. Fresh breezes. Took in stear-

As chairman of the recent Women's Community Guild Christmas Fair I extend my sincere thanks to everyone who helped to make our Fair such a success. It has been a pleasure to meet and know the many people who worked to-gether on this project. I also thank those whom I did not meet, but know added greatly to the Fair by their generous contributions of handwork and other donations. It has been a very rewarding experience for me seeing such a wonderful community spirit, not only by those directly involved, but also by everyone in attendance.

distress and seeing her without a F.T. sail yard we bore up and run down to her. She proved to be His Majesty's ship Sybble, a frigate. At 6 P.M. they boarded and examined us. We then veered ship and stud to the N.ward.

Jan. 1, 1812. Gentle breezes....we got up M.T.G. yard and sat T.G. sail. The ship stears so bad we cannot carry our studding sails. Saw many gulls and some porpoyses.

Although Capt. Snow had checked his latitude and longitude with the British frigate's officers, he was approaching the mouth of the English Channel with its swift and treacherous currents. To make every effort to find out precisely where he was he began taking soundings. For four days we read such entries as:

Jan. 3. At 8 A.M. sounded in 67 fathoms white and yellow sand. (The lead was always greased so it would bring up the material composing the bottom at that point. This was as important as knowing the depth.) At 10 was boarded by His Majesty's (ship) the Semiramis.

Land Finally Sighted

Jan. 26. At 8 A.M. saw the land-end barring NNE and the lizard point NE. At noon up with the lizard. (Landsend is the extreme southwest point of England, and The Lizard is a point of land sticking southerly into the English Channel. The port of Falmouth lies just around in back of it. In other words, Capt. Snow had made a perfect landfall.)

Jan. 7. At 2 P.M. the lizard bore N by W 5 miles dist. Took a Falmouth pilot on board to carry the ship to the bounds of the Plymouth pilot. At 7 P.M. made the Eddystone Light... lay by....at 9 A.M. was boarded by a Plymouth pilot and he superseded the Falmouth pilot. But coming on to blow a gale we could not get in.
